I think you should wait until we hear back, hopefully next week, from our Office of Environmental Assessment scientist folks. About their comments, and I'll also ask them their thoughts on sharing this in draft and the value of that vs. making some changes or finalizing first. No on your second question. I'm really sick today and I had just some personal business I had to take time off for in December. Talk to you Wednesday.

Miss Katherine,

Another question. Do you think it would be ok to send the draft preliminary report to Mariah Twitchell with ADEC. I know we had discussed waiting to send the report out after it was finalized. Would this be helpful to them in the APDES process currently under way?

Thank you,

M

So are you using up all of your sick leave and accrued time off for a potential parting of ways from EPA? Just an observation on my part with your time away from the office lately.

Hi Mr. Michael. Sorry, she shouldn't be freaked out. I'm out sick today but I'll plan to give you a call Wednesday afternoon to discuss it. Yes, we're likely to recommend that you guys coordinate a broad peer review, and you may be able to seek additional funding from us to do it, we're still discussing it here internally. Katherine

Miss Katherine Brown with EPA,

So you have Tracie all freaked out about a peer review of the draft preliminary report? I was not there for the conversation you had so if you could enlighten me of what you may have thought for this, that would help me out a great deal and I could maybe ease Tracie's frantic little mind.

Thank you,

M
